

University of Reading

Reading and the Great War

Sunday 27 April | 1.00pm–5.00pm | University of Reading, London Road campus
£3 entry – includes refreshments | students and under 18s free

A special event, hosted by The Friends of the University, marking the 100th anniversary of the start of the First World War and its impact on Reading and the University.

Book tickets in advance online, visit:

www.reading.ac.uk/events

For more information about the event, please contact: thefriends@reading.ac.uk
0118 378 8006

Featuring interactive exhibits and performances including:

- A special Service of Remembrance
- University Book of Remembrance
- Local history displays, including Royal Berkshire Hospital and the Royal Berkshire Regiment
- Performances of war poetry and plays
- Tours and talks
- Craft and other family activities
- As well as a chance to bring your own archive items for identification and recording

Part of the First World War centenary programme of events

This event is generously supported by

AVM Impact

LED BY IWM